

Bread & Butter Wines delivers +27% YoY growth while Canadian market contracts by -3.5%

Executive Summary

The Canadian wine market is undergoing a period of sustained contraction. During 2024, total wine sales declined by 1.39 million cases (-3.46%) on YoY basis. All major provinces experienced decline, ranging from -1.6% in Quebec to -5.3% in British Columbia, reflecting broader shifts in consumer spending behavior, inflationary pressures and evolving alcohol consumption patterns.

Despite these market challenges, opportunities remain within resilient segments, select varietals and strategically concentrated regional markets. This report analyzes market performance across 4 major provinces: Ontario, Quebec, British Columbia, and Alberta to identify where Bread & Butter maintains competitive strength, where it is outperforming the broader declining market and where untapped growth potential exists.

Key Report Highlights:

- ▶ Bread & Butter is underpenetrated in Quebec
- ▶ Challenges are rising against Chardonnay leadership in British Columbia
- ▶ Pinot Noir: B&B's National Stronghold
- ▶ Opportunity in highly concentrated Cabernet Sauvignon Ultra Large format

Bread & Butter Demonstrates Strong Growth Despite Market Contraction

Bread & Butter Wines outperformed both the overall Canadian wine market and the USA-origin wine segment across all major provinces in 2024.

Bread & Butter is Underpenetrated in Quebec Despite Strong Market Potential

Quebec leads per capita wine consumption at 1.54 (9L) cases (85% higher than Ontario), yet yields just 13.6% of total Bread & Butter portfolio sales. Direct US competitors capture 20% of their volume in the province, while B&B sits at 14% — a performance gap directly caused by supporting only three active varietals.

Expanding into Sauvignon Blanc, Pinot Grigio, and Red Blend would materially increase Bread & Butter's addressable market in Quebec.

Value-Tier Challengers Are Growing Significantly Faster Than the Category Leader

- ▶ In British Columbia, Bread & Butter remains the leading USA-origin Chardonnay brand, but growth is lagging the market as consumers increasingly gravitate toward lower-priced alternatives.
- ▶ Chardonnay is an ultra-competitive varietal (HHI: 424), where leadership positions are difficult to sustain and market share shifts occur rapidly.
- ▶ Bread & Butter maintains the #1 position among USA-origin Chardonnay brands with an 11.9% market share; however, brand growth (+2.0%) trails its own category market growth (+9.4%), indicating a loss of competitive momentum.

Consumer Demand Is Increasingly Shifting Toward Value-Tier Chardonnay Brands

The fastest-growing Tier 1 brands are concentrated in the $12.50–$14.99 price range, well below Bread & Butter's $22.99 premium positioning. Province: British Columbia, Varietal: Chardonnay, Format: 750 ml

Key Findings:

- ▶ Crow Canyon (#2) has emerged as a major challenger, capturing 8.8% market share while delivering +92% YoY volume growth at a retail price of $13.99.
- ▶ 19 Crimes (#4) represents an even more disruptive threat, achieving +440% YoY volume growth and 4.95% market share while competing at a retail price of $12.97.

Recommendation:

- ▶ A targeted LTO at $19.99 during Q4 would let B&B compete in Segment H without permanently repricing the brand.

Pinot Noir is a National Stronghold for Bread & Butter, with Quebec emerging as the next Growth Frontier

Nationally, Bread & Butter ranks #3 by volume with a 5.7% national market share and 11.1% YoY growth, reinforcing Pinot Noir as one of the portfolio's strongest performing varietals.

Bread & Butter holds the #2 position among all Pinot Noir brands in Alberta, British Columbia, and Ontario, demonstrating strong consumer acceptance and brand equity across Canada's largest markets.

Quebec Launch Momentum:

- ▶ Quebec remains the only major province where Bread & Butter has not yet established a leading position; however, the brand was only launched in the market last year.
- ▶ Despite B&B's recent launch in Pinot Noir, Bread & Butter has already climbed to #29 among 200+ competing brands from all origins by delivering +5,606% YoY growth.
- ▶ The combination of national leadership and accelerating Quebec performance suggests a clear pathway for further market share expansion.

The Cabernet Sauvignon 3000 ml Segment remains controlled by One Leading Brand across Most Provinces

- ▶ The 3000 ml format represents a meaningful share of USA-origin volume across key provinces, accounting for 10.8% of sales in Alberta and maintaining a notable presence in Ontario, British Columbia, and Quebec.
- ▶ Bread & Butter's strong performance in 750 ml and 1500 ml formats provides a credible platform for expansion into the under-served 3000 ml segment.

Cab Sauv - 3000 ml format among USA-origin brands is highly concentrated due to very low competition

Alberta and Ontario have significant leader volume. B&B should target the Alberta 3000ml format as a priority entry point, positioning against Kirkland's dominance through retail partnerships, leveraging existing 750ml brand recognition in the province.
